Monday, July 26. 1714.

London, July 26.
On Saturday arrived the Mails due from Holland and France.

From the Paris Letter, dated August 1.

Paris, August 1.

TIS advised from Madrid the 16th past, that the King and the three Princes continued at the Pardo, in perfect Health: That according to the last Advices from Ceuta, the Moors continued to fire from their Batteries on the Place, and that the Loss they suffered in attacking the Redoubt of Alcantara is much more considerable than was thought at first, for besides 4000 killed or wounded on the Spot, the Mines which the Besieged sprung during the Action buried Abundance of the Enemy, which has caused a great Infection; the besieged were providing new Batteries in Case the Moors should return to the Charge. What is most remarkable in this Siege of Ceuta, which has lasted 24 Years, is, that the Place is now much better fortified than it was when the Infidels first sat down before it. The Advices from the Camp before Barcelona, confirm the Arrival of the Duke of Berwick with Part of the French Troops, and the Defeat of a great Convoy coming from Majorca: They add, that since the Opening of the Trenches a Trumpeter came out of the Port, sent from the Deputation to M. de Bellefontaine, but he was instantly sent back again without being heard what he had to say. There are in the Town 5 or 600 Deferters, who only seek Opportunity to come over again to us, but 'tis at the Hazard of their Lives should they be discovered by the Rebels: However, 37 have come out of the Place since the 4th of last Month, among them an Officer, and the Master of a Bark, who having been taken and detained Prisoner some Days, found Means to make his Escape: They report, that the Barceloners appear still determined to defend themselves to the last Extremity, and even to perish in the Defence of their Liberty rather than renounce their Privileges. In the mean while they had not above 1100 Men of regular Troops, and so little Provisions, that they did not eat the half of what is sufficient. They have since received Supplies by some Vessels of the Fleet or Convoy which was beaten on the 9th, which Vessels during the Action ran into the Port; but this is but a poor Relief for so many famished Mouths, and whatever Countenance they put on, we hope to be Masters of the Place in less than a Month.
They write from Nancy of the 24th past, that the 19th the Court of Lorraine went to Commer-ci, where was the Chevalier de St. George, and thence to the Camp on the Upper Moselle, where they had the Diversion of a Mock-Engagement of Horse; on the 23d they returned to Luneville. The Electors of Trier was to go back in a few Days to Coblentz, and the Camp was beginning to break up and separate, the Regiments which composed it being ordered into return to their Quarters by the End of the Month. Several Troopers and Dragoons have been dismissed the Service, but the General-Reform will not be made till after the Ratification of the Treaty of Baden, which 'tis believed cannot be finished in the Time prescribed by that of Rastat, and 'tis said the Conclusion of it depends on the Success of the Siege of Barcelona.

Besides, the Affairs of the Electors of Cologne and Bavaria are not yet settled, and the Princes of Italy begin to despair of Satisfaction upon their Grievances. The Marquis de Bethune is gone on the Part of the King to compliment the Queen-Dowager of Poland his Aunt on her Arrival in this Kingdom: She was to set out from Marseilles last Week, to pass some Days at Avignon, and then to proceed to Lyons.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated July 31.

Hague, July 29. By Passengers from Antwerp we have an Account, that last Friday Morning between 9 and 10 a Clock, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough set out from thence, the Cannon firing, for Ostend, in Order to embark for England. The States of Holland and West-Fris-land have sent a Proclamation to the respective Towns of this Province, there to be published and affixed, containing in Substance,

That their noble great Mightynesses being informed that the contagious Distemper spreads more and more among the Cattle in the Province of Friseland, and that this Contagion is communicated to the Cattle of this Province of Holland by the Cattle transported into it from thence; and their noble great Mightynesses being desirous to provide against it as much as possible, have thought fit to prohibit the transporting of Cattle from Friseland into this Province, either by Sea or Land, till the 1st of May next; under the Penalty that the Cattle which shall be brought by Water shall be sunk with the Vessels that bring them, and those brought by Land shall be killed and buried, and the Boatmen or others who bring them shall be imprisoned and kept at Bread and Water 6 Weeks. &c.

Nineteen Ships from the East-Indies very richly laden are happily arrived on our Coasts, some of which have entered the Texel, others the Maese &c. 'Tis advised from Hanover the 27th, that the Earl of Clarendon arrived there the Day before; and 'twas thought his Excellency would the next Day be admitted to an Audience of the Elector, as also of the Electoral Prince and Princess, to make Compliments of Condolence in the Name of her Britannick Majesty on the Death of the Electress-Dowager.

Hague, July 31. Baron Heems having declared that he had Order not to enter any further into Negociation about the Barrier with the States, has exhorted them at the same time to nominate forthwith a Place for the Conferences, and to appoint a Minister Plenipotentiary to treat of this Affair and settle it with Count Konigseck.
Whereupon their High Mightynesses have intimated, that they will proceed without Loss of Time to the Choice of a Place and of a Minister, and 'tis believed the Count de Rechteren will be the Person. The said Imperial Minister has likewise insinuated, that his Imperial Majesty having continual Complaints brought before him from the several Parts of the Empire, where his Troops are quartered, he would be very glad to • ease those Countries as soon as possible, and to • send forthwith Part of them to the Netherlands, • to be distributed into different Places there. 'Tis

 • not to be doubted that this Proposition will meet • with many Obstructions, as well on the Part of • the States, as of France, and England: How• ever, this will at least oblige the States General • to enter the sooner into Negotiation about the • Barrier, which according to all Appearances hi• therto is not an Affair easy to be determined.
 • 'Tis advised from Hanover, that the King of • Prussia was come thither unexpectedly, and ha• ving passed some Days there, set out the 25th • past to return to Berlin.
